

Geri has studied Feng Shui with the following Masters:

- Grandmaster Professor Lin Yun, who introduced Feng Shui to this country 25 years ago
- Master Melani Lewandowski, President of Phoenix Design
- Master Nancilee Wydra, Founder of the Feng Shui Institute of America

Geri Wilson began her exploration into Feng Shui in the late 1980s. As a practiced Feng Shui professional, she specializes in private consultations for home and work environments. She is also available for group lectures.

Geri finds that Feng Shui is an antidote to the clutter that can often pervade our lives. Feng Shui removes the confusion and stagnation of an environment, while it adds harmony and productivity. She has discovered that even a subtle, minor change to one's environment can create beneficial results.

Before you build your home, redesign your office, rearrange your living space ... call me for a private consultation.

"What amazed me about Geri's talent is that her recommendations transformed two rooms of my house (bedroom and guest room) from ones in which I felt dissatisfied, without knowing why, to completely comfortable, inviting spaces where I love to linger. She has a gentle yet assured style, making her a joy to work with. Her remarkable capacity to combine listening to what I wanted with Feng Shui principles created beauty and peace where there had been disharmony."

"There has been an increased sense of 'well being' in our home since Geri's visit and I am excited to have Geri visit us again!"

"We are Feng Shui converts! We consulted Geri Wilson because we were uncomfortable about the entrance to our newly purchased home. Though the entrance was beautifully landscaped and seemed to function well, it never felt quite right to us. Geri pointed out some principles about the entrance to our home and its relationship to our life's journey that clicked with us. Once we remodeled the entrance, it seemed so right that we can't believe we hadn't seen it ourselves. The beauty of Feng Shui, as Geri practices it, is that internal click that happens when smooth flow of energy is achieved."

Feng Shui is...

An ancient Chinese study

A system of patterns, color & placement

A science, developed over millennia, integrating environment, structure, people & time

A discipline of order and energy for adapting your environment toward health, wholeness, prosperity & joy

An art of balancing and harmonizing the flow of natural energies in our surroundings to create beneficial effects in our lives

...the flow is ancient and never ending.
